The Carmel Pine Cone

50th Year, No. 17 P. O. Box G-1 THURSDAY, APRIL 23, 1964 Ph. 624-3881 Price 15c

James Chubb Named To Pine Cone Staff

Newly arrived in Carmel and recently appointed advertising manager of The Carmel Pine Cone, James E. Chubb was born in London, England. He attended the Kilmorie School for Boys in London, and went on to Pembroke College, of Cambridge University, where he earned his B.A. degree in English.

Chubb served in the British Royal Navy as pilot in the Fleet Air Arm, 1939 to 1945.

It was in 1946 that he came to the United States and joined the editorial staff of Time, Inc., as a researcher, writer and producer of the March of Time. After four years he was transferred to the Salt Lake City offices of Time, Inc. as director of Film Operations, TV Station KTVT.

From 1953 to 1957 he was associated with Wheeler Kershaw Advertising Agency of Salt Lake City as director of advertising and public relations.

With his objective California, Chubb accepted the post of director of operations at Pacific Ocean Park in Santa Monica in 1957. It was a year later he arrived in San Francisco as Director of Media Relations for the Eighth Olympic Winter Games, San Francisco and Squaw Valley.

In 1961, Mr. Chubb met and married Armgard von Raven of Berlin, Germany, and San Francisco. Their first child, Kristian Krafft Chubb, was born January 13, 1963.

"We have driven through Carmel a number of times on our journeys up and down the coast," Chubb related on his first visit to The Pine Cone office several weeks ago. "We want above all to live here. Do you think," he asked publisher Don Marshall, "that I might find a niche in the business whirl of Carmel?" The Pine Cone publisher said "Yes" — with emphasis. And here Chubb is installed. His wife and small son will arrive and settle in their Carmel home during the coming week.

Jim Chubb is a member of Argenta Lodge No. 3, F. & A. M., Salt Lake City. He is also a member of the English Speaking Union. His hobbies are sailing and tennis. Both he and his wife are enthusiastic artists, and look forward to sketching and painting the Carmel scene.

Herb Blanks Is Named Carmel's New Mayor

Carmel has a new mayor.

His Honor, Herbert B. Blanks, was selected by his fellow councilmen after the votes of the April 14 election were canvassed and Councilmen Eben Whittlesey, Gunnar Norberg and Steve Grant were sworn in last Tuesday night.

James C. Buffington, Jr., was selected as mayor pro tempore.

The votes were taken in full view of the public after a move by then-Councilman Blanks for a recess to the mayor's chamber for executive session encountered opposition from Councilmen Whittlesey and Norberg. Whittlesey asserted that his unwillingness to recess had nothing to do with who should be mayor, but that he would not join in any executive session in selection of a mayor. Norberg agreed that the matter should be handled in public and cited three sections of the city code to support his position. Blanks then withdrew his motion.

Buffington then nominated Blanks for mayor, Norberg followed with a nomination for Whittlesey for the office, on the basis that previously the man who had received the most votes in the election was named mayor. Nominations were closed and the voting was 3-2 for Blanks.

Norberg then nominated Whittlesey for mayor pro tempore, and Grant nominated Buffington. The vote was 4-1 for the latter.

Mayor Blanks made the following appointments: fire commissioner, Whittlesey; health and safety commissioner, Norberg; police commissioner, Buffington; public works commissioner, Grant; finance commissioner, Blanks. Committee appointments were: lands and improvements, Buffington and Grant; administration, Blanks and Whittlesey; public welfare, Whittlesey and Norberg.

Feathers . . . From the Shaft

No. 52

Accomplishments we often view with esoteric pride regarding special things we do or what we feel inside. We hang the wash out on the line or goose a mean guitar, and hope the world will see how fine and wonderful we are.

Ambition plays a nasty part in stomping someone's toes; we put the horse behind the cart to justify our blows. Too many live to show the Smiths how upper class they are, and often in pursuit of myths they drive the horse too far.

There's lots of folks who think of cash as I of my right leg, but go to pieces in a crash like any scrambled egg. I pity, too, the chap who hoards his dough and starves his soul, or never wets his feet in fords to reach a worthwhile goal.

Too seldom people ask themselves —is this what life is for: to let our talents rot on shelves so life becomes a bore? I only ask so let me live that harm comes not through me — that I be known by what I give, and not by usury.

The Mayor's Story

A fascinating history of Mayor Herbert Beverly Blanks' forebears traces his ancestry to Lorraine, France, to a famous soldier, Wandril de Leon, the year 1055.

In 1066 the family history shifts to England. Herbert's ancestor, Roger de Courcil followed William of Normandy to Hastings and the battle there.

Nearly 600 years later the family record carries the scene to Virginia where, it is verified, Robert Allen Blanks makes his first appearance.

The Blanks family flourished south of the Mason-Dixon line from 1600 until 1914, when the record has it that our Mayor's father, the noted educator Dr. Anthony Faulkner Blanks, Ph.D., (born in Louisiana) with a long record of professorships in major universities across the country, was in residence as professor of public speaking at Colgate University when Herbert was born, in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1915.

Herbert Beverly Blanks' mother was Dorothy McGee Welch, daughter of Dr. Herbert Welch, then president of Ohio Wesleyan University.

During his childhood, Herbert lived in several different states and in Japan before the family finally settled in Berkeley. He attended Berkeley schools and graduated from the University of California there, majoring in Forestry in 1937. That same year the young forester married Roxana Caroline Holmes who was born in Imusdale, Monterey County, where her family had held prominence for generations. The marriage was solemnized by Bishop Welch of New York, Herbert's grandfather, assisted by Bishop James C. Baker, both of the Methodist Church.

Carmel's mayor served during World War II, taking his basic training at Camp Wolters, Texas, in September, 1942. In 1945 he was awarded the Bronze Star for distinguished service in the Leyte campaign. Today he holds the rank of Major, and in 1961 was assigned Assistant Inspector General, U. S. Army Garrison (6211), Fort Ord.

Three 4-Year Schools in Carmel District; No Student Parking Seen in Future

The Carmel Unified School District will be organized into three 4-year segments, the high school will stay at its present site for the next few years, and parking for students will be done away with at the high school.

These were a few of the matters decided at last night's school board meeting.

The sale of Sunset School to the city requires that the district vacate the property shortly, thus the disposition of the fifth and sixth grades become a matter of concern. Putting them with the seventh and eighth grades apparently made most sense to the trustees. Dr. Robert Newton, chairman of the board, pointed out that there was "considerable logic, in view of college entrance requirements being based on four years of high school," in putting the ninth grade with the other three grades presently at the high school.

Superintendent Medill Bair pointed out that the cost of moving the high school to the present Junior High School building was just about equal to the cost of leaving it where it is and updating it.

It was pointed out that this updating process, which includes construction of the group facility building, will complicate the parking problem at the high school. Principal Warren Edwards stated that students who get into trouble invariably are found to be those who drive automobiles to school, and that he has planned to eliminate student parking in the near future, probably for the tenth and eleventh grades first, then for the seniors the next year.

The board voted to make the first two of these items official policy of the board, and asked the administration to bring forth information on the best time for making the grade shifts.

Frank Putnam Gets Wish — But Too Late

Frank Putnam got his wish last Tuesday night—but too late.

The fire siren blew at 8:30, during the council meeting, something Frank had been wishing for all during his service to the city. The trouble was that he had just started his "swan song" before leaving the council.

Frank stayed to make that speech, during which he pointed out four very important issues that Carmel faces. They are the disposition of Sunset School, undergrounding of utilities in the business district, some plan for off-street parking, and annexation of surrounding areas. He spoke warmly of his appreciation for working with "a fine body of men."

Retiring councilman Robert Spencer said he felt that the first year or two on the council are schooling, the next are for effective work.

Eben Whittlesey, before he relinquished the mayor's gavel, said he had the "most splendid cooperation from councilmen" who had worked with him. "I could not have asked for a better working council to serve with . . . I am looking forward to working with the new members of the council," he added.

85 Attend Alcan Tour in Valley

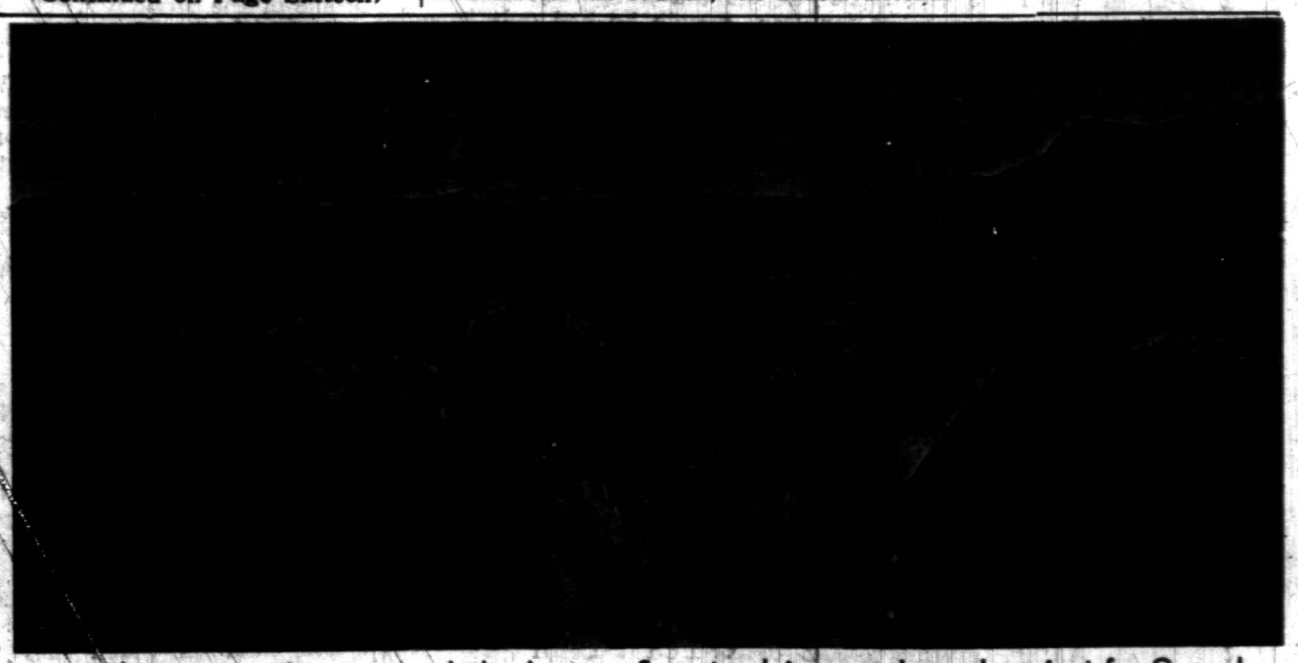
Over 85 persons gathered in a grassy meadow high over Carmel Valley yesterday afternoon to make an on-site inspection of the land proposed for a cluster development by the Alcan-Pacific Company.

As outlined by Lester Burdett, speaking for the development company, about 300 units are planned for the mesa area, comprising some 50-odd acres. The balance of the property, he said, would be dedicated to the county as greenbelt. The company would also put in a sewage disposal plant to handle the needs of the development.

While this is planned as an adult community with an age minimum of 50 years, he added, this is not a retirement community.

While the site is contained within an area shown on the map of the Monterey Peninsula Area Plan as park land, the developers assert that their plan should be invisible from the road and would preserve the ridge line. Trees would be left as they are, Burdett stated.

The entire question will be brought up tonight at the meeting of the Area Planning Commission, which meets at 8:00 in the Monterey Council Chambers. Chairman Keith Evans urges all interested to attend.



Building the snow fence around the Laguna Seca track is a yearly work project for Carmel Youth Center boys and girls and they spent all last Sunday at the job, in preparation for the races, May 1, 2, 3. Three of Carmel's stalwart gentlemen are on hand to aid two of Carmel's prettiest—Sue Helman (elected Miss Laguna Seca) and Pam Baldwin, secretary of the Youth Center smile at George Mosoloff, Lt. DOWN TO THE SEA

BY LES BOSSHARDT, Master Mariner

"I must go down to the seas again,
To the lonely sea and the sky." — MASEFIELD

REDUCING THE EASY WAY

A day or two ago a few of we portly denizens of Wharf Number Two were in Torpedo Junction stowing away various rations loaded with calories and talking half-heartedly about going on a diet. Not necessary to go on a diet, announces Dorothy (Frankie, to the regulars) Russo. If you want to lose weight just change jobs. Frankie worked for one of the fish freezing firms on the wharf and was getting quite plump in the process. When Frank and Che Cha Cefalu opened Torpedo Junction, Frankie came to work for them dispensing food goodies to the hungry men of the sea. Seems as if she, being around food all day, lost her appetite, and is losing weight at an amazing rate. Well, different ships, different long splices. What will work for one will not work for another. Guess I'll go on a diet.

SOMETHING NEW

Pete Constanti, supervisor of harbor maintenance, and his gang launched a float on the east side of Wharf Number Two Tuesday. Now the speedboat people, skin divers and water-skiers will have access to the wharf, and it is about time. They do most of their boating, etc., on the east side of Wharf Two, and if they, for any reason, wanted to land where they could get a coke or a hamburger, it meant coming around the wharf into the marina. Thanks Pete.

JIM BROWN AND TRIMARANS

Had a gam with Jim Brown of Big Sur the other day. Jim built and sailed a 25-foot trimaran down the coast of California and Lower California into the sea of Cortez a few years ago. Jim and Don McQueen have just finished building a 35-footer down the coast. Because there is a fine market for this type of sailing craft, Jim is opening a yard in Santa Cruz, where he will build trimarans according to his design, which has been proven over the years in offshore voyages. Good luck, Jim.

We are still in a big high pressure area, and it seems as if we should have another fair weekend. There are a couple of low fronts around, however, that will bear watching. One should bring some rain to the northern part of the coast around Thursday, and may reach this area Friday. The other low is pretty puny, and we will not be bothered much by it hereabouts. So the forecast then is for fair weather Saturday and Sunday with possible high Nor'Westerly winds Saturday.

NAUTICAL KNOW-HOW

Boaters make it a practice to look at the tower at the Coast Guard station on the breakwater. If you see a red pennant flying, don't leave your slip. If you got your boat for pleasure then there is no good reason for going to sea when the winds will be high, for that pennant is the SMALL CRAFT WARNING, indicating winds up to 38 knots. Better to slip sail when that fellow is hoisted.

BY DON MARSHALL

Pierre's mother, Mrs. Jehanne Salinger Carlson, is passing out cards around town which read, "Memo from Pierre's mother to you! Don't just love him . . . VOTE for him on June 2nd!"

—O—

Next week we plan to do a little something about Don Blanding, of dream house fame, and his efforts on behalf of establishing Lei Day in Hawaii. The poet and artist lived in Carmel for a few short years. On March 5, 1937, the PINE CONE did a special issue about Don, though he had only been in town since the previous summer. Some of the people who contributed to that issue were Armine von Tempski, Fanny Heaslip Lea, Earle Stanley Gardner, Helen Ware, Fredric Burt, Charles Leavitt, Mamo Clark, Homer Hayes, Joan Crawford, Mary Garden, Phil Nesbitt, and Major Chester A Shepard.

Anybody who has anything to contribute is invited to call us at MA 4-3881.

—O—

This reminds me about another plan we have here.

Thursday, May 7, the annual rabies clinic at City Hall takes place. Dog owners can take their pets to the parking lot there and get a rabies shot for a reduced rate, then proceed to another table, where city officials will be issuing dog licences. Time: 10:30 to 12:30.

Since every dog must have his day, the PINE CONE feels that canine Carmelites should have their story told. Hence we are asking for articles, poems, woodblocks, photos and drawings to help tell this story. Please call us and let us know what you can contribute to this issue, to be published when we have gathered the material.

Letters . . . to The Editor

The Editor
Carmel Pine Cone
Dear Editor:

A couple of weeks ago, we wrote of that encouraging ray of hope vouchsafed to the people of California in the newly conservationist attitude, seemingly taking hold in our State Government, as exemplified in Governor Brown's assertion, "That while he was Governor no single solitary redwood would be cut in favor of any freeway."

This betokened to our mind a growing awareness in the good people of California, that upon this terrestrial planet of ours, there is no such thing as eating one's cake and keeping it too. Or, in conservation terms, there is no such thing as urbanizing a community and keeping it rural too. This brings this community of our incomparable Monterey Peninsula face to face with the ever-recurrent problem of holding the line on our zoning ordinances whenever they may be jeopardised in ANY part of the area.

It is vital that all men who believe in the paramountcy of Law over Men should be alert to abrogations of that principal on the part of realty developers as they attempt rezoning efforts that would or could result in the evasion of the intent, if not the letter of the law as they "eat the cake" or our irreplaceable natural terrain.

Such a "cake eating" action is scheduled for attempt before the Monterey County Planning Commission in Salinas on April 28, to effect a rezoning of the Monterey Pines Area having outlet on the Carmel Valley Road, two miles east of Highway One. An area now contemplated for a Forest Preserve Park as time will make opportunity for its public acquisition by the people of the Monterey Peninsula.

Now is the time for all Monterey "cake-keepers" to get in touch with their County Supervisor, Tom Hudson of Monterey, and ask him to have this rezoning denied, or at least deferred. Conservationists of action, as well as of words, will appreciate this opportunity. 'Nough said.

C. AUSTIN DE CAMP.

Dear Editor:

Alcan Pacific's request for a rezoning for its land on the North side of the Carmel Valley comes up for a public hearing on April 28th before the County Planning Commission at the Court House in Salinas. This is to urge your readers to attend the meeting and express their opposition vocally and in writing.

The land on which they wish to build houses close together is shown as one-acre residential on the approved Carmel Valley Master Plan. The Monterey Peninsula Area Plan designates this space as part of the highly desirable Monterey Pines Park. It is obvious, of course, that any developer would like nothing better than to build a subdivision in an otherwise exclusive Park.

However, granting their request for special treatment in this instance could well sound the death knell for our Area Plan, with its wise provisions for protecting the scenic beauty of the Peninsula including Carmel Valley.

As a member of the Core Committee who has followed the making of the Area Plan closely since its inception, I emphatically object to attempts (and there will be others), to violate its provisions before they have been given a fair trial. I therefore ask the County Planning Commission to deny Alcan's application, and invite your readers to do the same.

Very truly,
C. W. FISHER

Sunset Student Wins D.A.R. History Award

Sunset School sixth grader Patricia Anne Bell, has been named the winner of the Award for Excellency in History by the Commodore Sloat Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Monterey.

In the annual contest for elementary school students Patricia's paper on Benjamin Franklin was judged by a panel of eight members of the D.A.R., experienced in teaching elementary and junior high school students.

The award was presented to Patricia at a tea held in the Monterey Public Library on Tuesday afternoon. With Patricia, honor guests were Orville Rogers, principal of Sunset School and Miss Jo Brazell, Patricia's home room teacher.

What's doing?

Maybe you read recently about that Coast Guard helicopter rescuing eleven people from the floundering Hattie D off Cape Mendocino. Well, if it hadn't been for a ship-to-shore telephone operator, the lucky eleven and the Coast Guard might not have gotten together. Seems that the stricken ship didn't use the regular emergency channel, and Operator Mrs. Evelyn Lubahn of Oakland picked up its "May Day" distress call over the Eureka Coastal Harbor radio-telephone channel. She promptly alerted the Coast Guard, who made the dramatic scoop from the sea. Just another case of a telephone operator giving help when it's needed.

Five C.H.S. Students Win State Awards

John Tracey

With a total of ten winners on the Monterey Peninsula, five Carmel High School seniors are named for California State Scholarship Awards for the academic year of 1964-'65.

The scholarships, to a maximum of $1,500, in no event in excess of tuition and fees, may be applied at the college or university selected by the winning student.

Annual renewal of the award may be applied for by students who maintain academic and financial eligibility.

Carmel High School winners are Kathleen Goulding and John C. Tracey 111, of Carmel; Steve G. Johnson and James K. Miller of Carmel Valley, and Richard W. Johnson of Carmel Highlands.

Bearing out the adage that travel is, in itself, education, John Tracey is comparatively "new" to Carmel High School, having enrolled last September.

John is the son of Major John C. Tracey, Jr., U.S. Air Force and Mrs. Tracey. An army, or rather Air Force "brat," so to speak, John has attended schools in London, Alaska, Chicago, San Antonio and Warrenton, Va. He plans to major in chemical engineering.

The Kurt von Meiers To Visit Here in August

Exciting news has been relayed by the Kurt von Meiers from New Zealand, where Kurt is presntly an assistant professor at the University of Auckland and senior lecturer in the History and Theory of Fine Arts.

He has been granted a visiting lectureship to the Universities of Melbourne, Sydney and Adelaide, in Australia, speaking on Art History, Contemporary New Zealand and Australian Art and the relationship of Art and Philosophy and Science. In addition he will be given a grant of $420 by the University of Auckland for a research study while in Australia.

The best news though, is the announcement that Professor von Meier has been offered, and has accepted, an assistant professorship in the Fine Arts Department of Princeton University, beginning this fall, and he and his wife will return late in August, settling in Princeton in time for the expected arrival of their first child in November.

Kurt is a graduate of Carmel High School and the University of California. He went on to postgraduate studies at the University of Madrid and at Princeton, where he was the recipient of two fellowship awards, in addition to a special award granted for a summer session devoted to the study of Japanese at Stanford University in 1961.

Following their arrival in San Francisco in August, when they expect to visit Kurt's two sisters, Mrs. John Christian and Mrs. A. Carol Kenney III, and their families, Kurt and Hildegard will come to Carmel to visit old friends and Kurt's mother, Mrs. Julian von Meier.

The Charles O'Garas Look Toward Greece

With extraordinary objectives, Mr. and Mrs. Charles O'Gara of Monterey will take to the air on May 3 to spend a month in Europe, with London, Paris and Athens their principal stops.

It all began a week ago last Sunday when as a postscript to the Bullship Races, the Roy Woods of Pebble Beach invited a number of enthusiasts to top the day at their home for cocktails.

By pre-arrangement, Mrs. O'Gara received a surprise telephone call and was informed that she had been chosen by the Beaudette Foundation of Moss Landing, an oceanographic research organization, of which she is a director, to go to Greece on a good will tour for the Foundation.

Not to be outdone, Mr. O'Gara will inspect European harbors. We are not quite sure what the O'Garas expect to find during their official surveys, but we do feel sure they will take a bit of time off for theaters, to see old friends, and sample some extraordinary European cuisine.

Among those at the Woods' cocktail party who enjoyed Mrs. O'Gara's dazed surprise as she hung up the telephone receiver, were Mrs. William Pringle, the Bill Wenners, Dick and Nancy Lofton, the Kenneth Ehrmans, and Mrs. Janice Neibel.

Symphony Guild Pops Concert a Triumph

Picnics, a birthday celebration, hundreds of balloons, beautiful floral decorations and toe-tapping "hot" tunes by an orchestra dedicated to top-drawer classics, all contributed to the outstanding success of last Sunday's Monterey County Symphony Orchestra Guild Pops Concert.

Publicized as a family affair, the Pops certainly came through. Basking in the early spring sunshine, there were dozens and dozens of picnickers. We saw the Leonard Klenes; the Glasers with their five children; the Mark Thomas family, and the Bud Allens with their baby.

A group of 30 foreign students came from the U.S. Defense Language School, with Hans and Georgia von Richter joining in the fun.

Tiny Kevin Kelly was celebrating his third birthday, and the entire Symphony Orchestra played "Happy Birthday" just for him.

As to the program, a wonderful melange of old time ballads, marches, polkas and waltzes, plus jazz gems — well, everybody hummed, and quite a few wildly enthusiastic listeners sang right out loud.

The University of California Glee Club quintette won thunderous applause and seemed to be having a grand time themselves.

Decorations by Mrs. Fred X. Fry were unique and beautiful.

Mrs. Kenneth Ehrman, Symphony Guild chairman for the Pops Concert, and her committee members should be thanked by the entire community for one beautiful highly successful afternoon. John Gosling's orchestra, it appeared, had as much fun as the audience, everybody in top form.

Winners in Laky Galleries Contest Named

Three Monterey Peninsula art students have been selected for commendation and awards in the first art contest of its kind in this area, sponsored by The Laky Galleries of Carmel.

Winners are: Joe Snyder, senior at Pacific Grove High School, awarded first prize ($100); Katie Van Horne, Santa Catalina School for Girls, second prize ($75.00); and David Vivell of Robert Louis Stevenson School, third prize, ($50.00).

Others who entered the competition, which was restricted to a black and white drawing, were Keith Burchell of Pacific Grove High School; Marjorie Otter and Marianne Seaver, both of Carmel High; Monica P. Subtirelu of Monterey High; and Marianne Hidas of Santa Catalina School. Each of the eight contestants were given a de luxe art book on the French Impressionists illustrated with color plates.

The judges issued a joint statement praising the high standard of excellence of all the young entrants. Jurors were Donald Teague, Howard K. Smith, Eldon Dedini, Jehanne Salinger Carlson, and Zyta Laky.

The contest took place on Saturday in one of the buildings of Sunset School, and the principals of the respective schools of the prize winners were the first to be advised of the choice of the jurors, who in turn would inform the winners of their good fortune and present them with the cash awards which had been forwarded by the Laky Galleries.

Patricia Coker, notable improvising jazz singer and Jerry Coker of M.P.C. Music Department rehearse for Sunday night's concert during which Clare Fischer, jazz pianist composer will be featured.

Jazz At Peninsula College Next Sunday Evening

Clare Fischer, noted jazz pianist-composer, and Patricia Coker, jazz vocalist now living in Monterey, will be featured artists in a concert to be presented by the Monterey Peninsula College Jazz Band Sunday evening at 8:15 in the MPC Music Hall.

Also featured will be the premiere of "Tomorrow's Sunday," a new work by Jack Stock which combines classical and jazz techniques in "Third Stream" composition.

Jerry Coker, MPC music instructor, will conduct the new 18-piece group in special music for its "unique instrumentation" of four French horns, two trombones, tuba, rhythm section and eight woodwinds " doubling on saxophones, flutes, oboe, bassoon and all of the clarinet family." Coker will also be heard as a tenor saxophone soloist in the concert.

Clare Fischer has risen to jazz fame in the past few years for his recording work as composer, arranger, pianist, organist and alto saxophonist. He was the composer-arranger of such records as "Portrait of Duke Ellington" (performed by Dizzy Gillespie); "West Side Story" (Cal Tjader); "George Shearing Bossa Nova," etc. He has also made several L.P.s as a pianist with his own trio. In a recent release, "Extension—Clare Fischer Orchestra," Jerry Coker was featured soloist. The music from "Extension will be performed during the MPC concert.

Patricia Coker is one of the few improvising jazz singers in the country. Her professional experience includes singing with the bands of Claude Thornhill and Ray Eberle. One of her original songs, "You'll Stay," has been recorded.

Tickets for the April 26 event will be available at $1, with the proceeds to go to a music scholarship fund. Reservations may be made by writing Coker at the College, 980 Fremont, Monterey, and enclosing check. Remaining tickets will be sold by jazz band members at the music hall door.

World-Famed Tenor

Richard Tucker, world-famous tenor, who stands at the top of the Metropolitan Opera's roster, will appear at Sunset Auditorium this Saturday evening under the auspices of the Carmel Music Society. Tickets are available at the box office on Mission near Sixth—telephone Ma 4-2085.

Photos appearing in last week's PINE CONE of Mayor Eben Whittlesey, Councilman Norberg and City Treasurer Coleman were by Murle Ogden. Credits were inadvertantly omitted. We wish to thank Mr. Ogden for his cooperation, and apologise for the omission.

Fashionable "Gossips" in the First Theatre of Monterey production of "Satan in Paris." L to R: Tink Anderson as Madame de Sericourt; Lyle Borden as the Count de Vanille and and Madeleine Hicks as Madame de Savigne.

'Satan in Paris' Great Fun At First Theater

In a startling and glittering departure from the traditional American melodramas of the mauve decade in which the Troupers of the Gold Coast have excelled for the past 27 years at the First Theater of Monterey, producer-director Al Olinger is currently presenting a fantastically blood-curdling Parisian thriller, "Satan in Paris."

And we hasten to assure First Theater regulars, Mr. Olinger has kept completely within the framework of his theater's tradition. "Satan in Paris" was written sometime during the 1880's. The French gentlemen are "pistol packin' " — only they wear impeccable white tie and tails instead of blue jeans and checked flannel shirts. The ladies are damnably beautiful in their exquisite Paris frocks, instead of ginghams. The villains and the hussies are quite worthy of audience hisses . . . the pure are "whiter than snow" whether it be Rocky mountain or Champs Elysee snow is a trivial matter. The drawing room setting in a chateau in Paris might have happened in a great mansion in San Francisco. So there you have it.

We are not going to tell you the story of "Satan in Paris," because suspense through four acts and eight scenes is too much fun.

But for the cast we cannot resist superlatives.

As Satan, handsome and debonnair, top hatted, kid gloved; as the lady devil, ravishing in dramatically beautiful gowns, Janine Johnston (a native of Paris) was superb. A fine actress, she played her dual role "straight," resisting temptation to clown, Mrs. Johnston carried the play.

Leading man Gordon Fairburn as the Count Henri de Beausoliel, handsome, suave, and possessed of a beautiful speaking voice, won, we feel sure, every feminine heart in the audience.

As his fair weather friends, Lyle Borden, Ted Crump, Tink Anderson, Doris Cameron and the First Theater's beloved character actress, Madeleine Hicks who simpered and swished and flirted, gave splendid account of themselves. Special tribute is due Niniv Ibrahim as Crequet, butler and confidante to Count Henri, for his subtle comedy and smooth performance of a many-sided role. Pretty Phoebe Fairburn as the maid created a particularly happy impression in an all too brief appearance.

Mr. Olinger's "Satan in Paris" is a gay and refreshing choice. His casting is a highly professional triumph. The gentlemen appearing on the First Theater stage are students of the U. S. Defense Language Institute with the exception of Mr. Ibrahim who is a D. L. I. instructor in Arabic.

Mrs. Johnston has been a resident of Carmel since she came to the United States from France some years ago.

Miss Cameron of Pacific Grove has appeared at the First Theater in numerous performances; while Phoebe Fairburn is the wife of the current drama's leading man.

Madeleine Hicks is the theater's veteran trouper, having been with the company since 1937.

Niniv Ibrahim is fast becoming a First Theater top favorite. A fine comedian, he has also appeared as Master of Ceremonies for the Olio.

The current vaudeville acts are "tops," in variety and production. As a ravishing prima donna in a most alluring figure - skimming gown of deep emerald green and black, Janine Johnston took the audience by storm. Her voice is beautiful, and her interpretation of "To Keep My Love Alive" earned estatic blushes from gentlemen sitting in Row One. The quartette was great, and the production numbers, with full cast in action, were highly entertaining. Master of Ceremonies Fred Roberts delivered his patter and kept the audience singing old favorites in high style. Susan Lee at the piano went through a repertoire of fifty years of song favorites without a note in front of her. Her untiring enthusiasm through years and years always amazes us.

Back stage, as she has been through every production of the Gold Coast Troupers, Rhoda Johnson, First Theater costumer and authority on early Americana is, in our book, the greatest!

Her wardrobe for "Satan" has allowed her a long-deserved fling. The Paris gowns are really exquisite, and, heaven be praised, the men's formals fit! Mrs. Johnson is a perfectionist and in the current show she has topped her goal.

Sets by producer Al and Mrs. Olinger, and lighting by Kay Knudson gave the play the final stamp of success.

"Satan in Paris" will run, Friday and Saturday nights through May 30.

The Sur Coast

By ELIZABETH FULLER JONES

The Big Sur Parent Nursery School has recently been formed and classes are being held Tuesdays and Thursday from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. in the building of the Santa Lucia Mission (the Episcopal Church Chapel), situated a short distance from the Post Office at River Village. For some time parents in the area and the principal at the Captain Cooper Elementary School, have felt the need for a kindergarten experience for the younger children before they enter the first grade of school. They believe there is a particular need for little children that live in remote areas of The Sur Coast to come together for group playing, learning and listening.

Well-qualified teachers, Mrs. Jo Ann Brown and Mrs. Yvonne Curtis, both on call as substitute teachers in the Carmel Unified School District, are in charge of the classes in the new early school preparatory group. Parents of the children (there are presently eight enrolled) provide transportation and assist in caring for them at these twice-weekly classes.

Mrs. Edward Branson, Jr. of Big Sur, Mrs. Maria Forsythe of Harmony Hills (a community south of Cambria Pines) and Mrs. Dorothy Williamson of Marina, returned this week from a trip to Salt Lake City, where they each took part in a world conference of members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. The conference, held twice each year, in April and October in the tabernacle (the building adjoining the famed Mormon Temple) is conducted by leaders, apostles and speakers of the church from various places around the world. At the conclusion of the three-day conference, Mrs. Branson spent two days working on the Branson family genealogy in the Genealogy Library in Salt Lake City. The library, housed in a five-story building, is one of the largest of its kind in the world. In 1963 research was done for genealogies for over two million people. The facilities of the library are made available to anyone interested in this particular research.

Nathaniel Owings of Big Sur, senior partner in the architectural firm of Skidmore Owings & Merrill, of San Francisco and New York, and a Fellow of The American Institute of Architects, will be guest speaker at Poly Royal, an event which takes place each spring on the campus of the California State Polytechnic College in San Luis Obispo. "The Future of Architecture" will be the subject of Owings' talk, to be presented at a dinner meeting at Madonna Inn, Saturday, April 25.

Each spring the AIA Student Chapter at the college sets aside a weekend to display the work of students and to portray the architectural students' transition through college years into the practice of his chosen profession.

This Poly-Royal, the 32nd annual, will be held this week end, and in addition to talks and conferences there will be an inter-collegiate rodeo, barbecue, water show and carnival.

The highlight of the two-day meet is the Awards Banquet, when outstanding students will be honored for their excellence and when those taking part will hear the distinguished architect, Owings.

Carmel Little League Season Opens Saturday

With the park completely renovated, Carmel Little League will open its '64 season on Saturday. The snack bar will be open with all the usual goodies, milk shakes, hot dogs, popcorn, soft drinks, and candy, with the addition of home made cup cakes on opening day only. There will also be the opportunity to buy a membership in this worthwhile youth program, a non-profit organization, in which more than 200 boys participate.

The schedule of games and ceremony is:

First game—Sport Shop versus Wilder and Jones—11:00 a.m.

Opening Day Ceremony— 12:45 noon.

Second game—Camera Craft vs. Pilot Market—1:15 p.m.

Third game — P. A. Macs vs. Boys Town—3:00 p.m.

The farm team games will start the following Saturday, May 2, if enough coaches can be found to start these boys 8, 9, and 10 years old, playing baseball. They learn the fundamentals of the games as it should be played, and how to win or lose gracefully.

Anyone interested in working with youngsters should call MA 4-6011 or MA 4-1132.

Arrow of Light For Two In Cub Pack 48

The highest award in Cubscouting was presented to two Weblos at the April meeting of Cubscout Pack 48, sponsored by All Saints' Episcopal Church in Carmel, when Cubmaster F. K. Duhring presented Fred Ford and Larry Garrison the Arrow of Light Badge. They will continue in scouting upon joining scout troops in Carmel.

Two new Bobcats, Robert Armstrong and James Morton, received Bobcat pins at induction ceremonies. Cubmaster Duhring also presented achievement awards as follows:

Receiving the Wolf Badge, Kenneth Banker; Bear Badge, Rick Hopelain; Lion Badge, Frank DiGirolamo; the Weblos Patch, Jock Whitney; Gold Arrows, John Francis, Dirk Hartley, Rick Hopelain, James Monroe; Silver Arrows, John Francis; Rick Hopelain, James Mallette (2); James Monroe. One-Year Pins, Ray Bauman, Peter Hill, Stanley Shepard, Denner Stripes; Rick Hopelain and Philip Spinks.

M P C Faculty Against Rumford Act Repeal

Warren Chapman, chairman of Monterey Peninsula College Faculty Association, announces that the Association is unanimously against the initiative to repeal the Rumford Act.

At its regular meeting this week, the Association adopted a resolution "to let its name be recorded among those opposing the initiative against the anti-discrimination housing laws of California."

Benefit Program At Hacienda Carmel

Resident members of Hacienda Carmel are sponsoring a benefit this Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, in the Hacienda Casa Fiesta auditorium, for Children's House in Carmel Valley.

Mrs. William Skowran, chairman of music, announces that the concert, to be given by Nancy Ness Bowman, director of the Opera Workshop of Monterey Peninsula, will feature excerpts from Verdi's "Il Trovatore," will pianist Camille Oleata.

The public is cordially invited. There will be no admission charge, but donations will be accepted for the Children's House Fund.

Resident Edward G. Petherick is chairman of Hacienda Carmel activities.

The State Scholarship Commission has announced scholarship winners for 1964-65. Approximately 1,800 awards are made. Scholarship winners were chosen from among about 20,000 applicants. The winners rank in the top 3% of students in scholastic aptitude. Carmel High scholarship winners are Kathy Goulding, Richard Johnson, Steve G. Johnson, Jim Miller, and John Tracey. (See picture story.)

CHS students gave a benefit hootenanny last Friday, April 17. The money is to be used for constructing a swimming pool in Carmel Valley. The hootenanny was organized by Carl Burger and Carlin Arriola. Sue Otter was in charge of publicity. Students who participated in the "hoot" include Carl Burger, Carlin Arriola, Fran Kibler, Coco Cotchett, Doug Pendleton, Pat Cornet, Bob Cater, Greg Stitt, Jill Penpraze, Jan Jones, Daphne Myers, Sue Otter, Sue Whitcomb, Duncan Stitt, Eleanor Wallace, and Kit Stowe. Audience participation was "allowed" on certain songs — "Mama Don't Allow," "This Land Is Your Land," "Cat Came Back," "Tom Dooley," "John B.," "Away with Rum," "Michael," "Lollipop Tree," and others. This benefit hootenanny was held at Sunset School auditorium.

The G.A.A. softball tournament will start very soon. Girls are signing up to play on class teams this week, and games should begin next week. Kandy Kogl is this year's softball manager. The inter-school softball team has also started to organize.

California Scholarship Federation has recently elected second semester officers. They are Carlin Arriola, president; Gary Silva, vice-president; Lois Watson, secretary; and Mary Hurn, treasurer. C.S.F. has planned the spring semester field trip—they are going to see the stock exchange in San Francisco and go to Golden Gate Park.

Blaine Walker Speaks

At Carmel Kiwanis Club

Blaine Walker of Monterey, recently returned from a tour of Russia and the satelite countries, gave an illustrated address before members of the Carmel Kiwanis Club recently.

Dramatizing his travelogue with his own color film, Mr. Walker emphasized the surprising prosperity he found in the principal cities of Russia. While he saw few smiles, the general populace looked well fed. There was color everywhere . . . few if any business machines in business offices. "But," Mr. Walker emphasized, "my impression was that Russia, already trading with major European countries, is looking forward to trade with the United States."

In the satelite countries the speaker's impression was that there is less of the Russian overlord atmosphere. While he saw little evidence of luxury living, he saw no beggars. As a visitor Mr. Walker stated that in Russia he was treated with uniform courtesy and allowed much freedom.

Walter Warfield of Monterey was the guest speaker at last week's inter-city meeting, with Carmel Kiwanis host at the Pine Inn luncheon. Mr. Warfield urged, in a spirited address, a repeal of the Rumford Act.

AVOID CYLINDER WEAR

Some motorists may scoff at the necessity for frequent oil changes, points out the National Automobile Club, but it is a case he who laughs first pays finally. The only preventive of worn cylinder walls is a lubricant with good body.

Mrs. Helen Faulkner Pens Poignant Poem

Poetry is one of those commodities about which wise men shrink from expressing criticism. To suggest that a line doesn't scan, or that a theme is jumbled and inconsistent with the text, is to invite cold war and the fury of outraged angels.

So we welcome the opportunity to express a degree of satisfaction and perhaps elation when a poem comes our way which says a complete something, a comprehensive and understandable thought which may live to be treasured by others, and especially in the present instance by those who have suffered a bereavement.

Mrs. Helen Faulkner of San Francisco in "Postlude" has given us a message of hope and an expression of love and nearness to the afterlife which we hope may be a reality in some more or less distant day. Most of us like to think that we shall again meet those who have preceded us, and Mrs. Faulkner has expressed this conviction with musical lilt and beauty.

Of course, we appreciate, too, those poems which express merely a passing thought or a wisp of song caught on the evasive flight of the muse. These also have their place, and they find room for themselves in our weekly column. Not often does this writer allow himself the pleasure of commenting upon the offerings of our contributors, not that he is afraid of disagreement or controversy, but rather in the recognition that no one man can possibly judge what is good or bad beyond the limits of what may be acceptable in a family journal.

So, congratulations, Mrs. Helen Faulkner. Your "Postlude" has been clipped from this issue to rest within the pages of our personal scrapbook of treasured immortals.

Carmel A F A Presents Film on Mayan Culture

Giles Healey will show the film, "The Maya through the Ages," on Thursday night, May 7, at 8:30 at the American Federation of Arts gallery in Carmel.

Highlights of the film include examples of everyday life, ceramics, textiles, glyphs, and visits to all the ancient cities. The camera studies of the life-size frescoes of Bonampak are of particular interest. The author and artist, Miguel Covarrubias, compared them to those of Ajanta in India. Mayan art, he says, is equal to the three great contemporary expressions of Asian art: those of Khmer in Indochina, Gupta in India, and T'ang in China.

The film was photographed entirely by Mr. Healey, the discoverer of the Bonampak murals. The voice recording is by Ralph Bellamy, Irving Pichel, and Vincent Price. Mr. Healey will answer any questions from the audience after the film is shown. There will be an admission charge of $1.00 for members, students, and military; nonmembers, $1.50.

Free Art Show by Talented Inmates Draws Many Visitors to Vacaville Medical Facility

Art—from the Left Bank of the Seine to San Francisco's North Beach—defies all barriers.

This will again be proven next Friday when the California Medical Facility at Vacaville opens its doors to the public for its Spring Fine Arts Show.

At this prison hospital over 100 inmates are preparing to hang more than 1,000 panel and oil paintings in a show that is unrivaled for its uniqueness. It has been acclaimed by leading critics as "the nation's largest, and perhaps finest art show."

Dominating the show will be a number of magnificent canvases of impeccable texture and finish. All media will be represented, from the conventional use of oil, stain and deep-varnish to the lightness of watercolor. The new work to be shown expresses many individual moods, multi-formity and treatment of color and subject matter. The media are as varied as the men who handle them.

Prison art as a creative contribution to cultural progress is still a relatively new concept, but the rehabilitative value of art has long been in use and is now widely accepted.

Two years ago, Dr. William C. Keating, Jr., Menninger trained psychiatrist who heads this psychiatric center for the California Department of Corrections, initiated the emphasis on art. Fortified by the approval of Walter Dunbar, State Director of Corrections, and armed with his frequently quoted philosophy, that "prison need not be an end, but can sometimes mean a new beginning," Keating gathered men from occupational therapy —which at Vavaville is psychiatrist-prescribed — the hobby program, and a nucleus of men imprisoned at Vacaville who had attained professional stature before their confinement, but who had been inactive in art since coming to prison. The program was launched with the idea that it would provide the men a creative outlet for their energies and relieve some of the frustrations that build up in a prison environment.

Under a semi-directed program, Dr. Keating permitted the men to work either in their own room — they aren't called cells at Vacaville — or in 12 studios tucked away in various parts of the institution. As the program gained momentum, mutual bonds were formed between the "captive professionals" and other men who showed talent and willingness to develop in the program. Through inter-

POSTLUDE

You blazed me trails to fern and fawn,
You sang me joy the green years through.
Today you climbed alone to dawn . . .
This time, I may not follow you.

The way I take is dark and still —
Save down your garden, where a breeze
Begins to twitter leaves that fill
Slow silences with memories.

I hear your blossom-borders hum
As jonquils bud a butterfly.
It quivers free before I come
In petals whispering the sky.

I loose my shadow to its flight;
And though your path no longer sings
Ahead, I stumble up to light
Along an overtone of wings.

HELEN FAULKNER
San Francisco.

PRICE OF GENIUS

How tragic are the figures that move starkly
Along the historic road of the artist,
Beethoven, locked in his prison of silence,
Keats and Schubert, dying in the young April of their lives,
Schumann unable to grapple with the world of reality.

With what coins of grief and pain
Do they pay for their sensitivity,
Do they pay for the price of genius?

LUCIA TRENT
Austin, Texas.

STORM OVER THE MOUNTAINS

With jagged exclamation points
The lightning punctuates
The grey page of the sky;
Reverberating thunder rolls
Huge discs of sound
Upon the sullen surface of the plain;
Awaiting rain;—
Small flowers bow their timid heads
Before the fury of the storm,
In deference —
To Nature's fierce cacophony;
And unleashed violence.

GRACE R. BALLARD
Santa Barbara, California.

PROUD OPAL

Proud opal flashes pastel flames
Which gleam through milky, clouded stone.
Wild opal, gem of ill repute,
With hues of dawn in shade and tone.

Rich opal clings to women's hands,
Pale fingers wear the glinting rays
Of colors matching Saturn's rings,
Which burn with cold and frosty blaze.

LUCILE VALOIS
Buena Park, California.

SOCIAL CREDO

Release the acts of help and trust
and stifle well the fear;
transmit the code of social faith
beyond the vale of cynic sneer . . .

Transpant the bulbs from ego's seeds into the open field
so men may watch them bud and grow from patient spring to autumn yield . . .

RICHARD CAYTON
Folkston, Georgia.

TELSTAR TO PEGASUS

Pegasus: I am a foal of yours;
an ugly duckling type that has not changed to swan.
I wish your hoofs could cause my heart's fountain to gush in ceaseless flow of song.
Thus far, my voice so nearly mute, earthbound has failed to reach the constellation, bearing your name;
else you might long ago granted my request for more poetic skill.

Now, since I beam this supplication Telstar-wise,
I hope to soon be worth heir of you, my sire.

MABEL M. HEINSON
Berkeley, California.

Carmel Art Association Elects New Members

Elected as active members of Carmel Art Association at the directors' meeting held April 13 were Zdenek Rada and Wayne Dye of Pacific Grove, and Alfred Heubach of Carmel Valley. All three new members were taken into the association under the classification of painters.

Replacing the one man show of Wellington Yuan, currently on display in the Beardsley Room of the Gallery, a show of Rental Pictures will be on view for one week, commencing next Wednesday.

Theatre Workshop Course At Circle Theater

The third annual workshop conducted by Fresno State College at the Golden Bough Circle Theater will feature contemporary American plays, according to its director, Professor Alvin Kaufman, who has just announced an eleven-week session opening June 22. The workshop is divided into two terms, the first ending on August 1, and the second continuing through September 6. During each of these periods students will participate in a production at the Golden Bough, if they so desire. They may take any combination of the courses being offered, which range from dramatic literature through acting, stagecraft and production.

A full-time student can earn as many as 13 units of college credit, granted by Fresno State, while gaining practical experience in his chosen field. The workshop is especially designed for teachers in service who need such credit for professional advancement, as well as for high school graduates and more advanced students of any age. Courses are offered on both undergraduate and graduate levels.

An independent lecture course in American dramatic literature will involve a study of some 25 modern plays, including works by O'Neill and Albee. Fresno staff member Margaret Hupp will offer work in advance dance and stage movement.

Brochures describing the workshop have been provided by the Peninsula Community Theatre and may be obtained by calling the Circle Theatre.

Student Program Wins Applause At Sunset

In recognition of Public Schools Week, Sunset School presented a gala program before parents, teachers and fellow students last evening.

With "Round the World" as their program theme, Sunset Band under the direction of Miss Sharon Jones played a lively double-header overture, "Explorer March" by Buchtel and "Bahama Holiday" by Morrissey.

"I Love Geography" and "Trip to the Islands" was sung by Mr. Hamil's and Mr. Satterlee's home room classes. Mrs. Nesbitt's, Miss Telonicher's and Mrs. Gratz' home-room classes joined to sing "Trip to Denmark, Holland and Scotland."

Mr. Blakeman's and Mr. Smith's students sang "Trip to Mexico and Czechoslovakia." Sung by Miss Brazell's and Mr. Klaumann's groups were "Italy" and "Paris." The finale in which all students participated was "You'll Never Walk Alone" from Carousel. The singers were accompanied by guitar, accordion. Slides of the vartar and accordion. Slides of the various countries were flashed on the screen during the singing.

Gymnastic skills were demonstrated; and original manuscripts were read by the young authors.

Sunset auditorium resounded with applause.

Carmel Schools Music Festival May 7

The Carmel Unified School District will present its second annual Music Festival on Thursday night, May 7 in Carmel High School Gymnasium. The event will bring together all of the performing groups, both vocal and instrumental, of all the schools in the Carmel Unified District.

The use of the gym makes it possible for all groups to be in position and ready to perform, and still allow space for an audience.

Groups in this year's program will be under the direction of Miss Sharon Jones, Miss Ann Brizell and Gene Perrine of the elementary schools; Joseph Larson and William Purdy of the Junior High School, and John Farr of the high school. The event will be open to the public.

Vacaville Artists

change of ideas, many new artistis concepts began to emerge and the program became a way of life for the men involved.

In December of 1962, a series of annual art shows was developed to satisfy public interest in the program. By this time it was felt that the inmate work was of sufficiently high quality that it would meet public acceptance. At the December show, 25 artists exhibited 400 works and the public applauded. The show was so successful, in fact, that it was decided to increase the number of showings to two a year. So, in the Spring of 1963, another show was held with 106 artists showing about 500 paintings. Top experts in the art world judged their works, and their comments were so heartening that the number of entries for the Fall show increased to over 1,400, and better than half were sold.

What are the effects of the program? "Our emphasis on art has definitely helped the inmates here to be better men!" reflects Dr. Keating as he looks back over two years of developing the program to its present stature. The superintendent himself has become active in the art field, serving as a judge of several outside art exhibits and carrying the message of his "prison art" to interested groups around the state. Several "graduates" of the program nave been paroled and are wending their way back — through art — to a useful place in society. A few have opened their own galleries; others are pursuing art as a sideline while wprking in another field. Not one man who has been involved in the program in prison and continued seriously with his art upon release has returned to prison.

Spurred on by enthusiastic critical and public acceptance, many men have entered the program since the Fall showing, and their works will be on display at the Spring show. Interesting innovations and sidelights are beginning to appear. Included in the forthcoming show will be a tie-up of art and poetry. Richard Sample, one of the facility's better artists, will joins hands with Jerry Beivelman, an aspiring and talented inmate poet. Beivelman is writing poetic descriptions of Sample's work, which will be appended to the paintings on display. Several men, among them Don Wyciskala, Larry Wolfe, Lou Mosher and Harry Walker, are working almost exclusively in pen-and-ink and pencil drawings. Several paintings by Spade Cooley, one-time "King of Western Swing" and three-time "top television personality," will be on display. Cooley just recently joined the art program.

Most of the medical facility's former top prize winners — Raymond King, Carlos Licon, Don Phillips are but a few — will be represented in the show.

Comments on CMF's shows continue to run to superlatives. "I've enjoyed this show more than anything I've seen in years. Stimulating!" said Antonio Prieto, chairman of the art department at Oakland's Mills College. And his voice was echoed by Dr. Tarmo Pasto, internationally celebrated artist at Sacramento State, who said, "the show had a breathing, human quality." Louis Siegriest, noted Oakland artist who has judged several of Vacaville's shows, said there was "more talent here than in any other amateur-professional show I've ever judged."

So, if you're interested in art, psychology, sociology—or just plain curious, Vacaville's show is a treat. Based on past experience, officials expect large crowds in attendance at the show, which runs through May 10. The exhibit will be open daily, including weekends, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., and all items will be priced for sale. There is no admission charge.

The show will be judged at a private session on Thursday, and all awards will be in place when the show opens to the public Friday, May 1.

Los Altos Hunt Entries Available

Of interest to equestrians of the area who participate annually in the Los Altos Hunt is the announcement made by the joint Masters, Dr. Tom D. Harris Jr., and Mrs. William Wallace Mein that entry forms are now available for the "Day in the Country" horse show and Play Pen in Woodside.

Chairman of the event, Richard Collins of Pebble Beach, has completed the program of games, races and 62 horse show classes which will be open to all adult and junior horsemen, whether veterans of the show ring or new to competition.

The horse show will feature hunter-jumper and western divisions. There also will be junior saddle seat equitation. Other events, reflecting the horse show's diversity, will include road hacks, polo ponies, San Mateo County pleasure horses, a lead line class for the very young, pairs, and many others.

The gymkhana events will include all of the popular games and races, such as musical chairs, sack races and pole bending. Originality and imagination will be invited in the carriage class, in which any type vehicle may be pulled by horse, mule, pony or donkey.

Perpetual trophies will be awarded for championships in the following categories: open conformation hunter, open working hunter, green conformation hunter, green working hunter, junior hunter division, junior western division, and junior saddle horse division. In addition there will be trophies and ribbons through fifth place in all classes of both the horse show and gymkhana.

The day-long program will start at 9 a.m. Entries may be obtained from the entry secretary, Mr. Albert R. Schreck of 255 Golden Hills Drive, Portola Valley.

Teen Age Fashion Show At Youth Center May 1

The Carmel Youth Center Spring Fashion Show will be held on Friday evening, May 1, with 50 fair maidens and 20 teen-age Lotharios modelling advance fashions from Gladys McCloud's Shop for Girls and Juniors, and Boys Town.

Mrs. McCloud will M. C. the show. There will be background organ music, the organ loaned for the occasion by the Graham Music Company.

A program of variety acts will follow the fashion show, with Youth Center stars participating.

Chairmen of the evening are Toshia Seeders and Kathy Guy. Tickets may be purchased from Youth Center members or at the Youth Center.

Trout Breakfast Planned May 3

An outdoor trout breakfast to benefit Carmel's Church in the Round will be held at Weston's Trout Farm on Sunday, May 3.

The breakfast, to start at 9:30, will be followed by outdoor church services for those who wish to stay, according to Mrs. Helen Ford, chairman of the event.

Children are invited to come out early and help in the catching of the fish, Mrs. Ford adds. Besides trout, the breakfast will offer hash brown potatoes, hot buttered rolls, juice and coffee, tea or milk. Price for the meal for adults is $1.25; children 75 cents.

Mrs. Ford said there can be no more than 150 people at the breakfast, so reservations are required. They may be obtained by calling her at MA 4-3686, or Charlotte Townsend at MA 4-3882.

The Weston Trout Farm is 11 miles south of Carmel on the coast. It will be pretty cold, so breakfasters should dress warmly in casual clothes and bring ground covering, such as blankets, etc. All interested are invited to attend.

Said sale will be made, without covenant or warranty regarding title, possession or encumbrances, to satisfy the obligations secured by and pursuant to the power of sale conferred in a certain deed of trust executed by George L. Osborn and Doralana Bunnie Osborn, his wife, to Coast Counties Investment Company, a California corporation, as trustee, for the benefit and scurity of John C. Hulphers and Eleanor Hulphers, his wife, as joint tenants, dated September 11, 1962, recorded September 11, 1962, in the office of the Recorder of the County of Monterey, State of California, in Reel 94 of Official Records, at Page 196.

Title Insurance and Trust Company is now trustee under said deed of trust.

SPECIFICATIONS FOR THE PURCHASE OF AN INDUSTRIAL TRACTOR-LOADER CARMEL SANITARY DISTRICT

Rickets Building
Carmel, California

The District Board of the Carmel Sanitary District hereby invites sealed proposals for furnishing an Industrial Tractor-Loader.

Sealed proposals shall be delivered to the Secretary of the District Board of the Carmel Sanitary District on or before 7:30 o'clock P.M., 5 May 1964 at the meeting place of said Board, Ricketts Building, Carmel, California.

Tractor

The tractor shall be a Model 2000 Ford Industrial Tractor as manufactured by the Ford Motor Company, Tractor and Implement Operations (U.S.), Birmingham, Michigan, or approved equal. The tractor shall be as described in Bulletin AD 8701 962100 of the Ford Motor Company subject to the following conditions.

The tractor shall be equipped with the standard equipment except as noted.

The tractor shall be equipped with 4-speed reversing transmission, 3-point linkage with adjustable top link hitch, 16.9-24 6 ply R-1 Agricultural tread rear tires, all as described in the above catalog.

Loader

The loader shall be a Ford Model 724 Industrial Loader as manufactured by the Ford Motor Company, Tractor and Implement Operations (U.S.), Birmingham, Michigan or approved equal and shall be delivered installed on the tractor with the necessary hydraulic controls and operating equipment as described in Bulletin AD-8819 563100 of the Ford Motor Company.

The bucket shall be Model 19-333 as described in the above bulletin, and shall have a capacity of 16 cubic feet. A six cubic foot counterweight box shall be furnished installed with the tractor loader combination.

Backhoe

The backhoe to be included in alternate bid item shall be a Ford Model 723, as manufactured by the Ford Motor Company, Tractor and Implement Operations (U.S.), Birmingham, Michigan or approved equal and shall be delivered installed on the tractor with the necessary hydraulic equipment and controls as described in Bulletin AD-8869 66375 of the Ford Motor Company.

The bucket shall be the standard ditching bucket as shown in the bulletin mentioned above and shall be 18-inches wide. Side cutters for the bucket shall be furnished loose. Stabilizer pads shall be High Flotation type. All hydraulic hoses shall be equipped with quick couplers with built-in check valves to facilitate the removal of the backhoe.

Equipment specified for the Tractor and Loader, which if installed would interfere with the backhoe operation, shall be furnished separately.

All equipment shall be new and as described above.

Paint shall be standard manufacturer's colors.

The equipment shall be delivered ready to operate, completely lubricated and fueled with all oil reservoirs completely full.

Trade-in

The District has a Ford Model 8N 1948 tractor loader which will be traded for the equipment to be purchased. The used tractor is available for inspection at the Carmel Sanitary District Sewage Treatment Plant.

The prices bid shall include delivery to the Carmel Sanitary District Sewage Treatment Plant approximately one mile south of the City of Carmel, Monterey County, California.

The prices bid shall include State and local taxes. The price shall be exclusive of Federal excise tax. An exemption certificate will be attached to the order.

Proposals for alternate equipment shall be accompanied by the appropriate manufacturer's catalogs which shall include sufficient specifications to make a comparison with the specified equipment.

Proposals shall be made as follows:

Base bid—Furnish one Tractor-Loader Combination only as specified, ready to operate, for the lump sum of..... dollars which price includes the full price of the equipment, discount, taxes and delivery, and credit for the District's Ford Model 8N tractor loader, including removal of same.

Alternate Bid — Furnish one Tractor-Loader-Backhoe combination as specified, ready to operate, for the lump sum of..... dollars, which price includes the full price of the equipment, discount, sales taxes and delivery and credit for the District's Ford Model 8N tractor-loader, including removal of same.

Bidders will state the delivery time, after notice of award is received, in their proposals.

Proposals shall be accompanied by the manufacturer's make and model number.

The District Board reserves the right to reject any or all proposals and to make the award which they deem in the best intersts of the District.

BODY AND SOUL

Have a little difficulty keeping both together during your income tax ordeal? Maybe what you need is a good investment in a home and income. At this time we just happen to have a nearly new unit of four unusually lovely apartments in Carmel Valley, all with sweeping view of the mountains, a handsome, beautifully built structure with 2-bedroom, 2-bath carpeted units, completely modern kitchens. Three units are leased, the owners live in the other. Price $89,500. You can live "free" while the other units pay your taxes, make your mortgage payments, build up your equity and furnish you with some nice depreciation benefits, besides giving you a little extra spending money.

"HOW TO BEAT INFLATION" by G. Washington

"Exchange land for land, for it is a matter of moonshine to you how much money depreciates if you can get land of equal value to that you sell." Since that day back in 1778 when the General gave this advice to his stepson, Americans have found swapping a very satisfactory way to solve their need for a new or different home. George himself was no slouch at turning a profitable deal in real estate; let us help you do the same. Have some fine mortgage-free lots available to trade for improved property, among other things. Tell us what you need.

A RECIPE FOR HATTON FIELDS HONEY:

Take 3 bedrooms; add two baths; mix in good living room with white brick firepace and dining ell; add beautiful kitchen with more than a pinch of storage space. Sprinkle with lovely landscaping, well-fenced. Cover with heavy shake roof and store in warm dry place. Will serve for years. (If this is too much trouble this honey, beautifully packaged, is available for just $37,500.)

A LITTLE LESSON IN HOUSE APPRECIATION:

In Carmel Real Estate, the name of Hugh Comstock is tantamount to the name of Cezanne in the art world. We have one of Comstock's greatest masterpieces in a beautiful garden setting in a cul-de-sac where birds sing, just three and a half blocks from shopping. Two bedrooms and three baths in the main house, and there's a complete guest house, too, which rents for $125 per month. Also a separate studio and a separate maid's cottage. If you can appreciate real beauty and charm, you should see this. Asking price is $65,000, but we'll present your offer.

SOUTH OF OCEAN AND A FEW easy blocks to shopping is a mellow 2 bedroom home waiting for you. It has a lovely garden setting, 2 baths and a den complete with fireplace. The kitchen can stand some up-dating, and the interior some do-it-yourself painting. The price is only $37,000. It's on a big corner lot and you'll love it.

SET OFF BY AN OAK-STUDDED expanse of lawn on nearly an acre, yet close to schools and shops, is the best family home we know of. There are 4 (or 5) bedrooms, 3 baths, family room and full dining room. In addition, it has an immense sun deck, breakfast room and a most inviting kitchen. An excellent value at $49,500.

NOTHING WAS SPARED when this Carmel Valley home was built 9 years ago. Architect planned, it is built of sturdy adobe with radiant heat and choice cabinet work. The 30-foot living room, custom kitchen and family room open to outdoor living areas with sweeping views. It has 4 bedrooms and 2½ baths. To replace it today would cost well over the asking price of $75,000. Shown by appointment.

HANDSOME HOME FOR LEASE for 6 months while you "try out" Carmel. Furnished 2 bedrooms, 2 baths, at $250 a month.

Stafford Hughes

Montrey Peninsulans heard with shock and grief of the untimely and tragic death of Stafford Hughes last Sunday. The various news media of the state on Monday told the story of the collision on Carmel Hill that took Mr. Hughes' life and seriously injured his father, Andrew C. Hughes, a resident of Carmel for many years.

Stafford Hughes, 44, a greatly respected and loved civic leader, banker, member of the Monterey Peninsula College board of trustees and a director of Community Hospital where he succumbed following massive chest hemorrhages, was being driven to his home by his father, from Monterey Airport. Mr. Hughes, senior, attempted a left hand turn at Vieja Road. A car traveling down Carmel Hill, driven by Gary Harlan of Fort Ord, crashed into the Hughes vehicle. Mr. Hughes and his son were taken to Community Hospital by Red Cross ambulance. Gary Harlan, who sustained minor injuries, was taken by ambulance to Fort Ord Hospital.

A team of doctors worked valiantly for four hours to save the life of Stafford Hughes, giving him many blood transfusions, but were unable to save his life.

Mr. Hughes leaves his wife, Mary Bell and five children, David, Kent, Philip, Mark, and Susan. Also, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hughes of Carmel; his mother-in-law, Mrs. George Woodall, also of Carmel, and two sisters, Mrs. Charles Alsop of Salinas, and Mrs. Joseph Carty of Menlo Park.

Private services will be held this afternoon with burial taking place in Cementerio El Encinal.

Contributions in memory of Mr. Hughes may be made to the Community Hospital Building Fund or to Charles O'Gara of 490 Calle Principale, Monterey, for a Monterey Peninsula College Fund to be established in his memory.

● Mr. and Mrs. C. Taylor Pillsbury of Pebble Beach, who have been on a cruise to Australia and New Zealand aboard the Monterey, will arrive in Honolulu this week where they will be entertained by the Kenneth Browns, who accompanied them on part of the trip, and Francis H. I. Brown. The Pillsburys arrive home on the 30th.

Realtor's Conference Here April 27

"If your favorite realtor isn't in his office on Monday, April 27, it is probably because he has gone back to school," said Bion Burchell, president of the Carmel Board of Realtors. He announced that many Carmel realtors would be attending a real estate education and sales conference on that date.

Held at the Mark Thomas Inn, it will be one of the 19 sessions scheduled this spring throughout the state under the sponsorship of the California Real Estate Association and the local real estate boards.

Mr. Burchell states, "Five of California's most successful realtors will appear on the program talking on the fundamentals of listing, advertising and selling real estate with emphasis on single family homes and small apartment houses."

Next Thursday Is 'Every Dog's Day'

The annual rabies clinic will be held next Thursday at the City Hall parking lot. Those wishing to have rabies shots for their dogs at reduced price may take them there from 10:30 to 12:30.

At the same time, city officials will be on hand to issue dog licenses.
